National Life - NL GL

Term Conversion

Any of the products in this series may be exchanged for a permanent life insurance policy for the same face amount as the term policy without evidence of insurability. Two different conversion options are available: Issue Age Conversion or Attained Age Conversion. 1) Issue Age Conversion: An issue age conversion may be made within the first five policy years. The new policy form will be issued with an effective date equal to the effective date of the term policy. The issue age of the new policy will be equal to the issue age of the term policy. A "catch up" premium is required with issue age conversions. This premium calculation takes into consideration the premiums that have been paid for the term insurance since issue, the premiums that would have been paid for permanent insurance since the term issue date, and any dividends/interest that would have been paid. Issue age conversions to flexible premium policies are not permitted, and the new policy form must be one that was available on the issue date of the term policy. 2) Attained Age Conversion: An attained age conversion may be made any time prior to the final exchange date. For issue ages 65 and lower, the final exchange date is the 10th policy anniversary for GL10, the 12th policy anniversary for GL15, and the 15th policy anniversary for GL20, but if earlier, the policy anniversary upon which the insured attains age 70. For issue ages 66 and higher, the final exchange date is always the fifth policy anniversary. The new policy form will be issued with an effective date equal to the date of the exchange, and the issue age of the new policy will be equal to the attained age of the insured on the date of the exchange. The new policy form must be one that is available on the exchange date. A term conversion credit of 1% per completed term contract month will be earned – up to a maximum of 12% (12 months). To receive this credit, the client must complete an attained age conversion within 8 years from issue GL15, or within 10 years from issue on GL20, but not past the final exchange date. The credit is calculated as a percentage of the annual premium for Traditional Life policies and as a percentage of the Commissionable Target Premium for any Universal Life policy. The credit is applied as a discount to the permanent policy's first year premium. If the term policy is converted to a limited pay contract, the conversion credit will be adjusted proportionately. See carrier for policy specifications.
